

ABSTRACT

[00073] A method in a computer system for communicating the present status of a job queue that contains a plurality of jobs. The method may include controlling a display device to display a plurality of images. Each image may be a print preview image of a different one of the plurality of jobs in the job queue.